More celebrations yet to come!

Parade and Picnic Rescheduled for Saturday, May 20!

Centennial Parade and Picnic Rescheduled to May 20

Unfortunately, rain actually did interrupt plans for the Centennial Parade and Picnic on their original date. This long-anticipated community-wide celebration has now been rescheduled for Saturday, May 20.

That morning, the Parade will not only showcase a spirit of pride that participants originally envisioned, it also will be a testament to how people of Brea persevere! Entries will be marching east on Birch Street from Associated Road to the Sports Park.

Just as in the founding years, the celebration will continue afterwards with a large community picnic. The Brea Ministerial Association has coordinated churches to provide food and live entertainment through the afternoon at the Brea Sports Park. There will also be re-enactment of the famous 1924 exhibition game in Brea matching up Walter Johnson and Babe Ruth.

An exact time is yet to be determined, so please check back at cityofbrea.net/centennial for full details.

Community Development Updates

Downtown Renovation

Construction activity on the east side of Brea Boulevard near the Birch Street intersection will continue into the end of 2017. The corner where Old Navy once operated will be converted through a major remodel into the newest version of The Improv. Their existing location will remain open and continue to provide comedy club entertainment. Once complete, a new, larger venue will offer this in a completely different interior layout that also can accommodate other live entertainment such as musical acts, plays, and daytime children's theatre.

East Side Parking Garage

Although it's not possible to see progress behind the fencing, crews are currently working on the waterline and other utility work on Orange Ave. Before any structural elements are visible, the underground preparations must be prepared. Completion of the four-level public parking structure is estimated by year-end. It will provide 478 parking spaces to the downtown inventory.

Central Park Village; More Construction Coming

When completed, the Central Park Village mixed-use development will feature 452 residential units and 66,000 square feet of commercial space. Now being occupied, the Element Townhomes are 81 modern residential units. An apartment building will begin construction later this year. Meanwhile, work is anticipated soon for a medical office building and parking structure. Future additions at this site will include a combination of retail commercial space and multi-family residential units.

La Floresta Makes Room for More Neighbors

The remaining Planning Areas are all part of the Buena Vida age-qualified community. Models are under construction and its community recreation center is in plan check.

Upcoming residential choices will include 80 residential stacked condominium units across five buildings, plus another 186 detached condominium units which are now under construction.

Rainfall Brings Solutions and Resource Responsibility

The good news— winter has been an unexpectedly wet! The bad news— Orange County is in a region which still is considered in a stage of drought. That is because critical underground water supplies remain depleted after multiple years of serious drought.

The California Department of Water Resources (DWR) was relieved to measure snowpack levels far above average in Northern California. But, it is still critical that all Californians eliminate wasteful practices and continue efforts to conserve. Work is ongoing to capture and store rainwater from the 2017 storms in available reservoirs to ease the outlook for summer. However, for the longer term, it is critical that long-term statewide solutions are found and groundwater sources are replenished and protected. A modern, flexible system is needed to distribute and store water when it's available.

Until the end of March, outdoor irrigation is allowed on Mondays. Moving into spring, beginning on April 1, the two weekly irrigation days for Brea are Mondays and Thursdays. Please control your water usage and never overwater outdoor landscape.

Remember these:

- Never water between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Sprinklers should never run beyond 15 minutes per cycle.
- Runoff must not flow over paved surfaces or into storm drains.

The Tracks at Brea: Two Segments under Construction

Construction has begun on two segments of The Tracks at Brea trail. For the duration, these sites are closed to the public.

- Segment 5, adjacent to the Loftus Flood Control Channel, will have an entrance at Kraemer Blvd. Work ends at Surveyor Avenue where pedestrians will be able to connect to Valencia Avenue. Later, a bike lane will be added for cyclists to navigate across to Valencia Avenue to La Floresta. Construction will require 90 working days.
- Segment 2 is between Brea Blvd. and the Brea Canyon Channel. It will connect to the completed trail behind Downtown Brea parking structure #2 and join with Segment 3, next to the downtown Fire Station. Work is estimated to take 120 working days.
- Additionally, amenities will soon be added to the completed trail portion between Brea Blvd. and State College Blvd.

What would happen if the entire community came together to help one another—City government, businesses, residents, the faith community, service groups, schools and sports organizations?

Last year we found out! Brea joined the Love Our Cities movement in 2016 and the community responded by the hundreds and completed 25 projects throughout the City. Let's top that in 2017 as we celebrate Brea's Centennial.

Join the Preparedness Team with CERT Spring Classes

Community Emergency Response Team classes for the spring session begin on Tuesday, March 21, and will conclude with a practice drill on Saturday, April 8. Better known as CERT, this free nationwide training program helps prepare citizen responders to offer assistance in local emergencies or other large scale disasters.

In Brea, hundreds have taken the extra step to attend CERT training. They not only raise their level of personal preparedness, but also consider how they might become a resource to the community if ever needed. Several active neighborhood teams of volunteers continue to meet informally to renew skills and keep awareness high. They provide an extra measure of safety that is of value to all.

Get full details at cityofbrea.net/CERT. The spring class schedule and registration form can be found there. For questions, you may call 714-990-7622.

See Something, Say Something

In recent weeks, the Brea Police Department has been able to make several arrests based on tips from the public. In these cases, someone was observant and took a moment to report what seemed like an uncertain situation. From a few reported details, the police were able to follow-up and take action.

Security is a responsibility shared by the entire community, not just sworn officers. If you see something, please, say something!

Commercial Organics Waste Handling to Change

The mantra of "reduce, reuse, recycle" is expanding to include more materials. Programs must now be devised to handle commercial organic waste under California State Assembly Bill 1826. Food waste reduction and diversion steps must be taken because this refuse can no longer be sent to landfills. Disposal of fats, oils and grease substances from commercial operations into the sewer system has been prohibited since 2010.

The new AB 1826 law provides for a tiered implementation schedule so that smaller generators will gradually be required to alter practices to comply. Once again cities are in the position of having to execute this State mandate. Approximately 900 Brea-based businesses recently received informational letters from Public Works along with a survey that can inform the City Council as they decide how to structure costs.

As businesses, cities, and waste haulers collaborate to establish an effective disposal system, there are also efforts being made on other fronts. Everything from source reduction, to donation programs, to anaerobic composting is being examined. People play a part too by being mindful as consumers. It is just as environmentally sound to avoid wasting food as one would not squander water or electricity. To learn more, visit CalRecycle.com/Organics.

Brea Business Briefs

The Orange County Business Journal has recognized significant components that make the City of Brea such an attractive location as it reaches 100 years. A section published in late January highlighted some of the elements that are working together to keep Brea in the spotlight. You can view it online through a link from the Economic Development page of cityofbrea.net.

Responding to Homeless Persons in Brea

A coalition of qualified and dedicated people attempt to improve the situation of homeless individuals in Brea with quiet and confidential work. As awareness about this grows, consistent and more effective responses can be offered.

What Brea does

At a minimum of once weekly, the Homeless Outreach Team; social workers, Resource Center staff, volunteers, and a specially trained police officer, visit known homeless persons or places where campers are reported. Their mission is to connect these homeless with relevant services so they no longer have to live outdoors. It usually takes multiple visits to gain trust, gather and process information for each personal situation. Many individuals need to overcome complex problems ranging from poverty to substance abuse to mental illness. Consistent contact leads to their cooperation which is essential for solutions.

Several members of Brea's Homeless Outreach Team from l-r: Rodger Huber, Claudia Hamano, Cesar Pacheco, LaVonne Gordon, Eric Oden.

The hard work of Brea's team has resulted in several success stories, such as:

- A senior woman living in a car was placed in a local house-sharing program.
- A young man was reconnected to out-of-area family who found employment for him.
- The team secured doctor's visits and medication for a senior man struggling with alcohol and health issues.

Homeless service is based out of the Brea Resource Center in partnership with the Brea Police Department. They also coordinate with the County of Orange to access mental health care that satisfies long-term needs and eventual solutions. Team coordination also enables assistance such as a hot meal or blanket that may be instrumental during visitations.

How should you react

Everyone asks that something be done. But what? The Outreach Team offers strong advice that you should not offer money in a personal encounter. Sadly, many opportunists pass through communities posing as homeless persons for the explicit purpose of scamming cash. Generosity only prolongs their stay. Such persons gravitate to high traffic locations such as freeway off-ramps, store entrances or fast food restaurants. Truly homeless persons generally keep a lower profile and do not openly beg from strangers. They generally want to be left alone.

The community can support the Homeless Outreach Team by donating gift cards for variety or grocery stores, gas stations or fast food restaurants. Monetary contributions (checks made payable to City of Brea) can also be mailed to the Brea Resource Center at 695 E. Madison Way. Meanwhile, the Team will continue weekly outreach to meet basic needs with belief that solutions are found through personalized services.

Canine Courtesy

Pet ownership comes with many responsibilities. Here are a few tips and reminders.

Dogs must be kept on a leash when out in public areas.

Animal waste must be picked up regularly from the yard and from public areas. When walking your dog, be sure to take along a container for easy pick up and disposal of your pet's waste. Please place in the proper trash bin.

Your Voice Counts! Local Control Funding and Accountability

The effort continues to inform and seek input regarding the Brea Olinda Unified School District's (BOUSD) Local Control and Accountability Plan (LCAP) and all of the components of this document. BOUSD wants to ensure that this document is not just pages on a shelf, but a guide to what the District does. It has worked hard to ensure that plans and documents are aligned and meaningful. In 2016, BOUSD gathered data through surveys, meetings, and in-depth conversations and additions below were made in the 2016-17 school year using LCAP funds:

- The addition of the AVID (Advancement Via Individual Determination) program at Brea Junior High (two periods in both 7th & 8th grades)
- Hired two new 21st Century Learning Coaches (Teachers On Special Assignment)
- Hired additional Physical Education (PE) teachers to provide additional PE time for students, and prep time for grade level teacher planning
- Purchased additional Chromebook carts (40 per cart): one cart per elementary school, two carts at the Junior High, and three carts at the High School
- New website design and mobile app launch to further inform parents, promote involvement and solicit community input

Now in its fourth year, the LCAP is moving into the annual revision cycle that ends in May 2017. During this time, a host of LCAP meetings have been scheduled to review current progress on goals, actions and services and to gather feedback. In addition to refining supports for all students, a particular focus is on supporting achievement for students who are economically disadvantaged, English learners or foster youth. Your voice counts in this process. The Brea community is encouraged to take the annual LCAP survey located at bousd.us under the LCAP tab.

To make it even easier to access the LCAP survey and to keep up-to-date with the latest news coming from BOUSD, community members can now download the district's new mobile app. This smartphone app enables individuals to access news, calendars, and information about district initiatives. And those with children in schools can get student grades—right from their mobile phones. The free app is available to download for iOS and Android users by searching "Brea Olinda Unified."
