Older Americans Month 2014 “Safe Today, Healthy Tomorrow”

Each May, Older Americans Month recognizes seniors for their valued contributions. The 2014 theme, Safe Today, Healthy Tomorrow focuses specifically on injury prevention and personal safety.

Older adults faced some tough times in their past. However, to remain active and independent for the future, they need to be extra mindful of ways to protect themselves. Family, friends and neighbors must also become partners for care and safety. The community is reminded about the importance of helping everyone stay safe and active as they age. Programs continue to become ever more responsive to Brea seniors.

A few key concerns relevant to senior safety:

- Falls can be especially dangerous. Trip hazards need to be removed wherever they are discovered. Personal assistive devices should be used when needed.
- Balance and mobility reflect health and require strength. Exercise builds strength. Take advantage of opportunities for seniors to become more active.
- Medications require caution. Be alert and share unusual symptoms or reactions with someone you trust. Use care to secure prescriptions and properly dispose of excess in an environmentally responsible manner.

• Elder abuse hides under the surface. Regular and varied social contact improves one’s outlook and also helps offset undue control that might be physically or emotionally hurtful.

• Home safety is essential. For seniors, particularly those living alone, their emergency plan must include a well stocked supply kit and a nearby contact point. Make it a point to meet your senior neighbors and have a clear agreement about checking in on one another.

The Brea Senior Center, as well as the Family Resource Center, can provide more detailed information and referrals to services that show how the Brea community appreciates its senior population all year long. Be sure to check out a sampling of the many social and educational activities offered at the Brea Senior Center on page 5 of this Brea Line issue.

Shaking Stimulates Emergency Preparedness

Recent earthquake activity shook up interest in emergency preparedness. Hopefully, the moment didn’t pass you by without follow-up action to check supplies and update out-of-state contact lists. Also, if you have not already registered on AlertOC, it’s about time! This is the countywide mass notification system to directly deliver essential information via phone, text, or email.

Brea Community Watch: YOU Are the Best Deterrent to Crime

The Brea Police Department encourages you to help deter crime by making it risky and unrewarding. Criminals count on your indifference and lack of awareness. In targeting an area, they assume people are not acquainted with one another and are uninformed. This is the foundation of the Community Watch Program being renewed by your Police Department.

Community Watch programs include both Business and Neighborhood Watch components that mobilize volunteers in residential and business communities. Depending on the needs of the particular group, members may patrol the areas they represent, report suspicious activity, distribute crime prevention information, participate in regular meetings to discuss area issues, manage phone, text, and/or email groups for quick dissemination of information, assist with emergency preparedness activities, conduct business assessments, etc.

By starting or joining a Business or Neighborhood Watch, you are partnering with your police department to help prevent crime. It's easy to get started. Email your contact information to communitywatch@cityofbrea.net, or submit an application form online at BreaPolice.net. Phone inquiries about the program may be left at 714-671-4499.

Brea Crime Rates Down; Awareness Up

The Brea Police Department is happy to report lower crime activity in our community.

For three consecutive years, crime in Brea has trended lower, and this is holding for early 2014. In 2013, crime was down 7% as compared to 2012. This data refers to Part 1 crimes; homicide, burglaries, rape, motor vehicle theft, arson, etc. as reported to the Department of Justice. Emergency response times are measured from the time a dispatcher receives and enters a call to the time an officer arrives at the scene. The 2013 average emergency response time in Brea was just 3 minutes and 24 seconds.

Although crime is down, the Brea Police Department still wants the public to be mindful of potential crime in order to serve as effective partners in prevention. Thus, officers have expanded use of Twitter, Facebook and Brea's Nextdoor neighborhood networks to provide more prompt and regular information. Now it's easier than ever to be "in the know" by following the department to get important information during major police incidents. You can access their social media outlets from the website, breapolice.net.

Code Enforcement Assures Safe, Attractive Neighborhoods

Sometimes people are unsure about local standards. Sometimes people become careless. Brea's code enforcement helps assure that everyone follows basic rules for a safe and attractive community. This program assists property owners, and helps maintain the greater good through compliance with adopted codes.

If you have a question, or you want to address a particular situation anonymously, it is easy to make a submittal through the city website. Look under the Community Development Department for more information. Calls can be directed to 714-990-7764.

The Tracks at Brea Trail: Up Next

Construction plans for Segment 6 of The Tracks at Brea have been completed and construction bidding will begin once one additional authorization is received to release our grant funding.

Segment 6 will take bicyclists and pedestrians from Kramer Boulevard to Valencia Avenue.

Segment 1 is completed and open beginning at the southern end of Arovista Park traveling north along the flood control channel west of the downtown parking structure. Grading and soil remediation plans for the one-mile Segment 3, between Brea Boulevard and State College, have also been completed and the bid process is about to begin. Segment 5, which travels through Birch Hills Golf Course, is currently under construction as part of the golf course improvements targeted for completion by late 2014. Efforts are continuing to obtain grant funding for development of Segments 2 and 4.

Stop by The Tracks table at the Chamber of Commerce's "Taste of Brea" event on May 15 from 5 to 9 p.m. to learn more about the trail.

Neighborhood Pride Supports Friendly Atmosphere

Pride is reflected in how people care for property and behave in their neighborhoods. Everyone needs to cooperate. Therefore, it is important to be aware of several property maintenance standards promoted by the City of Brea.

- Keep trash cans out of sight. Wait until sunset the evening before collection day to bring cans out. Put them away by 10 p.m. after pick-up.
- Park cars in a garage, carport or driveway. Permits are required for vehicles left overnight on a public street.
- Store boats and RVs properly. If these do not fit in a garage, 3-sided carport, or side yard, then other arrangements are needed.
- Silence is golden. Certain noise levels are restricted between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. Be aware when loudness is a nuisance.
- Be a responsible pet owner. There are limits to the numbers of pets allowed on an individual property. Dogs in public must be leashed. All pet wastes must be disposed of properly.
- Keep your home in good repair. Regular maintenance and landscape care are essential for good function, safety and attractiveness. You can review building code details online or you can direct questions to 714-671-4406.

Get a Boost with Housing Rehab

If your home repair list outweighs the paycheck, Brea's Housing Rehab Program may be a solution. Federal funds to finance home repairs are allocated to qualifying families for repair or refurbishment of an owner-occupied home.

The City of Brea can help you apply. Funds are based on availability and applicants must meet income and other criteria.

To request an information packet, please call 714-671-4461.

Construction Marks Healthy Economy for Brea

Brea's Community Development Department continues to process plans for a number of projects that are either in construction or proposed for the future. This is a snapshot of major activity for spring of 2014.

La Floresta

- Regency Centers will develop the commercial component at the corner of Imperial and Valencia. They have initiated a lease with Whole Foods to be their new flagship store, complete with generous outdoor dining areas for various restaurants. Regency plans to introduce programmed activities at the site including farmers markets, tastings, and food education programs.
- On the residential side, Capriana is 85% occupied in less than a year from opening and now is adding a continuing care memory unit. Hines Development plans to build approximately 150 new upscale apartment units, complete with pool and recreation space amenities and indoor garage parking.

Central Park Village

- Starting construction very soon. This is a mixed-use project that will feature 450 residential units and 66,000 sq. feet of commercial space including medical offices. Developer, JH Real Estate Partners, earned the prestigious Golden Nugget award in 2012 for project plans. In the center of the project there is a spacious park that will be available for community use.

Birch Hills Golf Course

- After unexpected delays due to challenging environmental mitigation work, the course is now fast tracking to open by the end of the year.
