

What is Your Vision for Arts and Culture in Brea?

The City of Brea is in the process of putting together its first-ever Cultural Arts Master Plan. Known as a “City of Art,” Brea is committed to upholding its long-standing investment in arts and culture. A Master Plan will identify what the future of the arts in Brea can look like.

There will be various opportunities for community input throughout the process. This is your opportunity to shape the future of Brea Arts!
